ITALY DECLARES WAR ON BULGARIA

Joins With England, France and Russia in Protection of Serbia

GERMAN STEAMERS SUNK IN BALTIC

(Special to The Herald)

Rome, October 19.—Italy today declared war on Bulgaria, the announcement being made by the war office. This declaration on the part of Italy means that Italy will assist the Allies in the Balkan campaign by sending troops or fleet, or possibly both to invade Bulgaria and assist the Serbs. This makes England, France, Italy, Serbia and Russia at war with Bulgaria, who is supported by Austria and Germany.

Italy's formal entrance into the Balkan war follows a report that a secret agreement has been made between Italy and the Allies, by which Italy should assist in the Balkan campaign, and in consideration of the Balkan interest that Italy will acquire in the event of the victory of the Allies. Italy is vitally interested in the Balkan situation more so than either England or France, owing to its position in relation to those states, where it is very important that Italy should have friendly neighbors.

ANOTHER SUBMARINE TO BE BUILT HERE

Sec. Daniels Awards Contracts for Destroyers and Submarines--Over Half a Million in Work for Local Yard

Washington, October 18—Contracts for 16 submarines and six destroyers were awarded today by the navy department. One destroyer will be built at the Norfolk navy yard and one at Mare Island, California. Four of the submarines will be built on the Pacific coast. The Bremerton, Wash., and the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yards each will build one.

The four destroyers to be built at private yards were awarded as follows:

Cramp and Sons Company, two at $81,000 each.

Seattle Construction and Dry Dock Company, one at $885,000.

Bath Iron Works, one at $879,500.

The destroyer to be built at the Mare Island navy yard will cost $752,635 and the one at the Norfolk yard $706,305.

The total of the awards is $4,926,412. The limit of cost imposed by congress was $925,000 each, or a total of $5,500,000. All the boats will have a minimum speed of 30 knots an hour and will displace 1125 tons each. Delivery to the government is required from 18 to 20 months.

The submarine contracts awarded to private firms were as follows:

Electric Boat Company, eight at $646,000 each.

Lake Torpedo Boat Company, three at $515,000 each.

California Shipbuilding Company, Long Beach, Cal. (Lake company designs), three at $548,500 each.

Daniels Talks on Awards

"It is interesting to note," said Sec. Daniels in awarding the contract "that the six destroyers and sixteen submarines constitute the greatest number of contracts for new construction ever awarded in the history of the navy department at one time."

The destroyers will be built in the main in accordance with the designs of the department, except in the case of the one boat to be built by the Bath Iron Works, which will be according to the bidder's design of machinery for which that company guarantees results in cruising, speed radius somewhat in excess of those required by the department.

The order for the construction of these vessels at each of the Mare Island and Norfolk navy yards is in pursuance of the department's policy of equipping and developing our navy yards to the highest point of efficiency in times of peace, so that they may be prepared for the greater strains which would be thrown on these organizations in time of war.

"The award of contract for one vessel to the Seattle Construction and Dry Dock Company marks the beginning of the first vessel of this class to be built on the Pacific coast by a private concern since the completion of the Paul Jones, Perry and Preble in 1902.

"Both of the submarines to be built at the navy yards will be on the design of the Electric Boat Company. The designs and specifications which were submitted by the bidders meet, in all essential respects, the rigid requirements for this class of vessel which were laid down by the navy department. In general features and characteristics they represent a small advance in size, but a much greater advance in efficiency. Both designs propose improved engines of the heavy all type and greatly improved storage batteries, these advances having been made possible by general developments in engineering science, and by extended experience in previous submarines of the United States navy.

"As in the case of the destroyers, the bidders for these submarines show their ability to build more rapidly than heretofore, as the guaranteed dates of delivery are in all cases well within the 24 months which was the best period of construction for any boats of this class previously laid down."

The principal characteristic of the new vessels will be:

Destroyers—Length, 315 1-2 feet;

beam, 30 feet, 7 inches; draft, 8 feet;

displacement, 1125 tons; speed, 30

CHARLTON MAKES POOR IMPRESSION

Como, Italy, October 19.—The outlook for Porter Charlton, the young American who is on trial here for the murder of his wife, whose body was found in a trunk in Lake Como, is bad. The trial which began yesterday with Charlton on the stand was continued today and it was admitted that the young American did not make a good impression on the court or jury. In fact, he is said to have been bitterly arraigned by his own counsel for his manner of telling his story.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE.

"Twin Beds" enters upon its third month at the Park Square Theatre, Boston, with the unqualified endorsement of the thousands who have already viewed it with unabated pleasure. There is no evidence of a sense of festivity upon the part of the people of New England to attend this farcical play which revolves around the difficulties of three couples who experience the same trouble that certain personages mentioned in the great book who ask the question, "Who is my neighbor?" If they knew beforehand there would have been no such many adventures as transpired in the large apartment house wherein they dwelt, and a very wholesome and funny farcical world have been lost to the stage.

But "Twin Beds" has more than innumerable amusing situations, though these would probably have carried it to a rare degree of success by virtue of their novelty, the rapidity of their development and their uncommon naturalness. It possesses the value almost never found in farce, of fine characterization, and the added value of witty line, stinging dialogue which virtually remake the current speech of broadway during the fifty-two weeks of its run there, and delicate real feeling, which pops out when it is least expected, and heightens the effect of the comedy.

POINTED SHOTGUN AT OFFICERS

ISAAC SAULTERS ARRESTED ON RICHMOND STREET AND MAY BE TRIED ON SERIOUS CHARGE.

Isaac Saulters, colored, was arrested by Officers Schriener and McCaffery shortly after one o'clock this morning on Richmond street and was booked at the station as being drunk. It is likely that a charge of threatening the life of a person will be added when he comes up for trial in the Municipal court. When he was taken he was armed with a double barrelled 12 gauge shotgun which he had leveled at officer Schriener and both barrels were snapped. The fact that neither barrel was loaded at the time probably saved Schriener from a dangerous wound.

Saulters had threatened the life of a woman on Richmond street, it was reported to Captain Burke by telephone and he detailed Schriener to look the trouble up. On the way to the scene Officer McCaffery joined him and the two met Saulters near the top of the hill on Richmond street. Saulters raised the gun to his shoulder, taking aim but Schriener had hold of the barrel when the triggers were pulled.

WOMAN STABBED IN NASHUA STRIKE RIOT

One Man Thought Fatally Shot and Unknown Woman Taken to Hospital After Sally Made by Soldiers.

One woman was stabbed yesterday noon at Nashua and a militia officer shot Adam Rasavitch with a revolver during a sally of the state soldiers from the mill yard of the Nashua Manufacturing company where they have been held for the past ten days waiting for possible trouble with the striking employees of the company. Neither the man nor woman were killed but both are seriously injured and are being treated at a Nashua hospital. The name of the woman could not be learned. None of the police or the militiamen were injured in the rioting.

The man who was shot, Adam Rasavitch, a Pole, was married only three days ago. His wife was with him in the crowd. People who were close beside Rasavitch said that he did not offer any violence, but merely stood his ground when ordered to move on. Upon his silent refusal to obey, the militia officer fired at point-blank range. The bullet struck Rasavitch in the abdomen, and he fell to the ground. His wife sat down and held her husband's head in her lap until the ambulance arrived.

This was the first collision between the strikers and the militia, though the strike has been on for two weeks. The day after it began, the militia—two companies of the New Hampshire National Guard—was sent to the aid of the company, and was sent into the mill yard. There the soldiers have remained ever since.

The mill itself was shut down, throwing the remainder of the 6000 employees out of work. Most of the original strikers were Poles and Lithuanians, textile workers. The mills make cotton blankets.

Sympathetic strikes have been started, but the number of actual strikers have been set at 4000.

Following their custom, about 11:30, the men and women strikers gathered at the place where Pine street crosses

CALTON'S STORY OF WIFE MURDER

Como, Italy, October 18.—Porter Charlton, the young American, accused of beating his wife to death and throwing her body inside a trunk into Lake Como was put on trial here today charged with "unpremeditated murder," the maximum penalty for which is 20 years.

The prisoner listened unmoved while the clerk read the sentence of the Sezione D'accusa, which corresponds approximately to the indictments of the grand jury in Anglo-Saxon trials. The indictment is as follows:

"On the ninth day of June in the waters of Lake Como, a trunk was extracted which was found to contain the body of a woman who was soon identified as Mary Scott who for nearly a month had resided with her husband in a small villa at Moltrasio, the said villa being located near the lake. A superficial examination, the wounds of the head and other parts of the body, the circumstances in which it was found, engendered the belief that the woman had been murdered and afterwards thrown into the lake. Later a post-mortem examination by the doctors and still later the autopsy on the body proved beyond a doubt that the wounds on the head had been the cause of death. This certainly was further strengthened by the confession of the accused, Porter Charlton, who has admitted that he struck the said Mary Scott on the head with a wooden hammer. Thus the facts are clear that Mary Scott was slain and that the slayer was her husband, Porter Charlton."

"Charlton, in a written

"Charlton, in a long statement of the smallest incidents of his brief extramarital life, tries to depict his wife in the light of an extremely irrational woman, highly excitable, dissolute, lascivious, insanely jealous. He relates that on the night of June 6th, returning home after a short walk which he had been forced to take with his wife, he found her on the threshold of the house in the act of leaving. He asked her where she intended to go and she replied with insults. Following that, and incited by the suspicion that his wife was going to a love appointment, his head began to throb; everything turned red before his eyes and he picked up a wooden hammer, losing understanding of his following actions. In his autobiography however, he relates many more particulars and describes all he did in order to destroy the traces of his crime, his subsequent flight from Moltrasio, his trip to New York and his arrival there. All these details were carefully concealed from the investigating judge, to whom he stated he remembered absolutely nothing."

"From proofs gathered in the course of the investigation, we can state that Charlton married Mary Scott for love, because he deeply loved her, that previous to her marriage, Mrs. Scott, already divorced from her first husband, had led an adventurous and somewhat disordered life, that after her marriage there had occurred between her and her second husband a series of quarrels, most of them bitter, followed by periods of calm and mutual love, that even the day of the crime had passed tranquilly. From this and other facts which can be better ascertained in the course of the trial, we can draw the conclusion that Charlton had come to consider his marriage as nothing else but a painful chain which would have grown more unbearable daily. Hence the idea first, and the determination afterwards, strengthened in the cynicism of the crime by the pungent suspicion that his wife was going to desert him for another man, or rid himself of the woman."

"If we now consider the number of blows aimed exclusively at the woman's head we are also forced to admit that the crime was a deliberate one."

"The indictment goes on to analyze the conclusions of the expert on the mental condition of Charlton on the night of the crime. After a detailed consultation of Dr. Valtorta's sustaining Charlton's full responsibility, the sentence accepts the conclusion of the other two experts who say Charlton was entirely responsible for his acts."

"The sentence ends by absolving Charlton of the charge of outraging the body of a dead person implied in the fact of folding his wife's body in two, locking it into a trunk and throwing it into the lake, for under a recent royal amnesty decree, even the maximum penalty is remitted."

Constantine Isopatoff, the Russian, who at first was arrested under the charge of complicity in the crime, is fully exonerated.

Greeks Not So Neutral

London, Oct. 18.—The energetic action of the Entente Allies and the opening of actual hostilities between Bulgaria and Serbia apparently is rapidly modifying the attitude of the Greek anti-war party, says an Athens dispatch. There is credible authority for the statement that King Constantine is preparing to go to Salonica in the near future, and it is said in circles usually well informed that Greece will abandon her attitude of neutrality as soon as the concentration of troops is completed and army arrangements perfected. The impression prevails that Roumania also will soon ally herself with the Entente Powers.

Cadum Ointment has a most soothing and healing effect wherever the skin is inflamed, irritated or diseased.

A list of its ingredients is printed upon every box. One ingredient is oil of cade, which is one of the best things known for Eczema. Another ingredient is zinc oxide, which dries up the water that forms upon sore places on the skin. SUBMARINE BASE AT NEW LONDON EXPECTED

Secretary Daniels Will Make Announcement of Plans in Few Days—Battleships Leave for Gun Practice.

Washington, Oct. 15.—It is expected that the Navy Department's program for a submarine base at New London, Conn., will soon be accomplished. Joseph Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, announced several months ago that the base would be established and the Bureau of Yards and Docks has been preparing for it. The bureau has submitted a report to the secretary. Originally it was believed that no appropriation would be required. Now it is realized that money may be needed to equip an up-to-date submarine station. The essentials are already available at New London. Buildings for the personnel are there. The New London area was recommended by Rear Admiral A. W. Grant, U. S. N.

Submarines Go to New London

A flotilla of submarines left Newport R. I., yesterday for the new submarine base at New London, Conn., where they will remain for the winter. The flotilla includes the D-1, D-2, D-3, the K-1, G-1, and G-2. They were accompanied by the tenders Tonopah and Ozark.

Power Squadrons Represented

The United States Power Squadrons of which Rear Admiral Coffman is the navy's representative in the governing body, has appointed three delegates to the Conference Committee on National Preparedness. The delegates are Charles F. Chapman and Theodore L. Conner of New York City and William A. Hopkins of Boston. Roger Updin of Boston is the commander. The Power Squadrons were in existence long before the Navy League, which has a tremendous and widely scattered membership in every community throughout the country, now plans to continue its entire membership committee of the whole to find former navy men and persuade them to enroll in the naval reserve. Contests for getting in touch with one-time enlisted men will be established in every state in the United States and the state committees of the Navy League will take charge of the work in every state.

WATCH OUT!

There's a rare treat in store for readers of the New York Sunday World. Commencing October 31 there will be printed in the Sunday World's Illustrated Magazine, from week to week, a series of articles about the amusing adventures of Funny Philo Gibbs, a correspondent of school "decoyative." The author of these humorous articles is no less a personage than Ellis Parker Butler, author of "Pigs Is Pigs" which made so many people laugh a short while ago. Surely ridiculous are these articles. Don't miss one of them. Order the Sunday World in advance.

There is more actual entertainment to be won from the big feature photo-plays being shown at the Portsmouth Theatre, than can be obtained at any other theatre for twice the price in New England.

Teaching Domestic Science.

According to reports, interest in the study of domestic science is increasing. It is said that enrollment in schools specializing in this branch is larger than usual this fall, which shows that young women and girls are more and more turning their attention to a study which if properly pursued should yield results of large practical value. A few years ago the teaching of domestic science was regarded by many as largely experimental, but today it is looked upon in a different light and the study of this branch is being taken up more than ever before, not only by the daughters of workingmen, but by the daughters of men high in official, business and social life.

The study appeals strongly to the daughters of foreigners, who have a desire to learn to keep house as the Americans do. And while theory has its place in the teaching of domestic science there is, and very properly, on the part of those teaching it an effort to present the practical side in a manner to render the study of substantial practical value.

So far as home making is concerned there is no room for doubt that the best training is to be received in homes where the practical principles of domestic science are thoroughly understood by the wife and mother, but, unfortunately, there are too many homes where the wife and mother is not posted on these matters as she should be. In an age when so many girls and women are employed in factories, shops and stores there is danger that the science of housekeeping will be neglected. The flooding of the markets with prepared foods also has its effect, and the result is that many young women marry and go into homes of their own without the necessary preparation for taking care of a home.

It is too much to expect that schools of any class will ever be able to turn out good housekeepers, but the teaching of domestic science should supply some of the elements missing through the lack of home training, and should therefore prove of value to girls so unfortunate as to have missed in the home the training necessary to the making of a home. For this reason the teaching of domestic science in schools has its proper place and cannot fail to result in good when properly taught and conscientiously studied.

Time to Do Something.

Now is the time for the real estate dealers and property owners of Dover to get together and co-operate to boost this city. The practical certainty of the opening of the old paper mill at Portsmouth by a big munitions company presents a splendid opportunity to bring scores of families to our community. If the matter is handled in the right way, this can be done. The co-operation of the Board of Trade is assured. The new plant will employ a thousand men inside of two months and early in the new year it is expected that three thousand hands will be employed. With such a vast number of families entering the city, Portsmouth will be unable to care for the crowd. Dover, however, which is easily accessible to the down-river city, has quite a large number of vacant tenements which could quickly be filled. The management of the corporation is planning to erect many portable houses but they cannot begin to house their help. We have no doubt but what their skilled help, which will include a large part of their employees, would willingly come to Dover and reside here permanently if the managers of the plant were asked to co-operate. Now is the time to act.—Foster's Democrat.

Our up-river contemporary should not give itself any uneasiness about Portsmouth being unable to care for those who will be employed at the new industry at Freeman's Point. We are prepared to house 10,000 if necessary. Portsmouth has the opportunity and its citizens are alive to the situation.

A few more cases like the act of the British patrol ship slaying German members of a submarine while they were struggling in the water, and that while the British ship was marked with an American flag, will soon change public sentiment in this country.

The vitriolic writings of Rudyard Kipling against the Germans have resulted in raising general protest among the American press. It appears that this author has completely lost his head, and is doing great harm to the British cause.

A headline tells us that holiday staples will be costly this year, and that the prices of turkeys and cranberries are already soaring. How natural this sounds, to be sure.

Yale University will be able to struggle on for a while longer. Its gifts and bequests for the year ending June 30 aggregated nearly $1,000,000.

From present indications, unless a guard is put out, President Wilson is very likely to close.

CURRENT OPINION

Underrating Power of Enemies Has Defeated Many Nations.

It is not pleasing; it is very unpleasant—yea, horrible—to contemplate the possibility that this great war can continue for many months longer. But if we are guided by reason, unblinded by sentimental considerations, we can discern the truth more clearly.

If peace is declared without a decisive victory for either of the belligerents the result would be but a truce and both sides would arm with all their might for another struggle.

When the war first broke out there were many well known persons who prophesied the discomfiture of Germany and the capture of Berlin within a few weeks—a few months at longest. So imbued was English opinion of the ease with which the allies could overcome Germany that orders for war munitions were but small, while they should have been very large.

Great nations through all history have been defeated mainly because they underrated the power of their enemies.—By Hudson Maxim, Noted Military Inventor.

PORTSMOUTH AS A SEAPORT

Boston Post Predicts a Return of Commercial Glory.

The Boston Post today had the following on the nautical facilities of Portsmouth as a seaport:

The report that munitions manufacturers have obtained the great plant formerly owned by the Publishers' Paper Company at Portsmouth for the manufacture of shrapnel again calls attention to the magnificent facilities of New Hampshire's only seaport for commerce of every description.

The Dover High school team came here on Saturday and were defeated by the local high in rather easy fashion, which was a surprise to the locals, who have been twice beaten in the past two weeks, in both cases by teams that played better football.

The Dover Democrat has the following characteristic account of the game:

"The Dover High school football team was unable to make the least headway against the Portsmouth High team Saturday at Portsmouth and was defeated by a score of 61 to 0, never being much beyond the middle of the field on their attack, on the heavy Portsmouth eleven. The present Portsmouth team is one of the bravest which a Dover High school team has ever faced and as the boys termed the attack 'they all seem to be veterans' seems to express the conclusion of the locals after the game."

"Another objection which handicapped the locals was the failure of the referee to enforce the rules of the game and hurdling even was in order.

Arthur J. Grimes of this city who acted as an official called the attention of the referee to the violations on many occasions but his suggestions were not even treated courteously. The Dover team was outweighed at least 20 pounds to the man on an average.

Portsmouth once boasted a fine merchant marine business. She still has the magnificent harbor for it. Perhaps if this plan succeeds she will begin to gain some of her ancient commercial glory."

Every day the government is realizing this from the fact that it has never been called upon to expend one dollar for dredging and the harbor is the nearest to the sea, and in the coldest winter free from all ice.

Next to Puget Sound it has the deepest harbor of any and this can be seen from the records in the bureaus of yards and docks at Washington, and the public works department at the local navy yard.

It is almost certain that the coming years will see the merchant marine established and Portsmouth will, as the Post states, get back some of her commercial glory.

PROHIBITION SERMON.

Rev. F. J. Scott, pastor of the First M. E. church, changed from his announced topic on Sunday morning and showed his sympathy with the union meeting of the evening by preaching a masterly and eloquent sermon on prohibition. The speaker made very convincing points as to the growth of interest in the movement. He commented on the present attitude of the business and scientific world toward the liquor traffic and spoke of the favorable governmental action in this country, Russia and other lands towards its extinction.

He stated that individuals must be total abstainers for the sake of themselves and those they love, for personal efficiency and for their prestige and reputation.

The entire question should be regarded rather as a social one than as one of individual rights. Personal rights that conflict with the best interests of society are not rights at all, in the opinion of the speaker. The formation of "personal liberty leagues" and similar organizations, by those interested in the liquor traffic, will have its most pronounced result the strengthening of the convictions of thinking people that the evil is in the last stages of defeat.

The preacher concluded by eloquently exhorting his hearers to direct their prayers, their votes, and all their efforts toward the extinction of the great evil of intemperance and the wiping out of the liquor traffic.

THE SAME OLD STORY.

Dover Democrat Has Usual Hard Luck Story.

It would seem indeed strange if the Dover Democrat could ever accept the defeat of a Dover team, high school or otherwise, in good grace and in a sporting spirit. The spirit of finding an excuse for the defeat of a local team is not even good for the defendant.

The Dover High school team came here on Saturday and were defeated by the local high in rather easy fashion, which was a surprise to the locals, who have been twice beaten in the past two weeks, in both cases by teams that played better football.

The Dover Democrat has the following characteristic account of the game:

"The Dover High school football team was unable to make the least headway against the Portsmouth High team Saturday at Portsmouth and was defeated by a score of 61 to 0, never being much beyond the middle of the field on their attack, on the heavy Portsmouth eleven. "Another objection which handicapped the locals was the failure of the referee to enforce the rules of the game and hurdling even was in order.

Arthur J. Grimes of this city who acted as an official called the attention of the referee to the violations on many occasions but his suggestions were not even treated courteously. The Dover team was outweighed at least 20 pounds to the man on an average.

Portsmouth once boasted a fine merchant marine business. She still has the magnificent harbor for it. Perhaps if this plan succeeds she will begin to gain some of her ancient commercial glory."

FUNERAL OF MRS. CHANDLER AT DOVER

The remains of Mrs. Lucy Lambert Hale Chandler, wife of ex-Senator William E. Chandler, who died at their country home in Waterloo Friday, were taken to Dover Monday afternoon. Funeral services were held shortly after the arrival of the remains, which were conducted by Rev. Ward Clarke, pastor of the Unitarian church of Biddeford, Me. The bearers were Judge George S. Frost, Col. Daniel Hall, Fisher Fliper and George Williams.

IT GOES TO DOVER

The seventy-five cars of coal stored on the side tracks of the Boston and Maine railroad, near the Colonial Paper Company, no doubt caused many to jump at conclusions that the shipment was for the new concern expected to take over the paper plant. The coal is consigned to the Coopers branch of the American Woolen Company at Dover and has been placed at Freeman's Point for storage until needed at the mills.

When she comes to make her important purchase, the woman who has read the advertising will do better than her sister who did not post herself.

WILL FORTIFY ISLES OF SHOALS

Guns on the Islands Could Sweep Seas for Miles.

The proposed increase of army and navy to come up in the next congress will no doubt mean something to Portsmouth in both branches of the service. It is understood that if the army bills pass that the Isles of Shoals will be fortified with the most modern equipment.

In addition to fortifications the government is likely to establish signal and radio stations on the islands.

This location is a very important one and would mean a great deal to the government in case of war. It is situated that the guns on either Appledore or Star Island could sweep the sea for miles in all directions.

While such a plan has not generally been known by the public, the war department has for several years had the matter under consideration.

In making improvement for better coast protection the government has no better location on the Atlantic sea coast.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE

There has been no play in years that has made such searching appeal as "Back Home," now playing at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston. The reason for this is not hard to find for it is of the brand that reaches all classes of humans as it deals with the platiest and most honest of emotions and concerns a people about whom so much has been written and known but who have very rarely been presented upon the stage in their true light. There has always been an abundance of romance connected with the South, for the very atmosphere seems to breathe the sentiment and poetry. But it has come, for such a literary artisan as Irvin Cobb to invest the Southerner with a humor that is indigenous to the soil and is readily recognized as such.

Rigby has this author won an honored niche in the halls of fiction; for no present day writer has so successfully caught that elusive faculty of giving a natural touch to his characters. In his stories they seem to actually exist, to be present and almost part of one; and it only remained for such a master playwright as Bayard Veiller to bring them into actual being and place them in situations similar to those described upon the printed page.

How successfully he has done so, those who have attended this delightful play will plausibly testify. Critics and publishers alike have gone to the extreme in praise of it, and there exists in their minds no doubt that it will enjoy a long and prosperous run here in Boston. It has everything a play should have to merit this plaudits: humor of the honest sort, most wholesome sentiment, and stirring and heart-compelling scenes. The cast too has come in for great praise, and Selwyn and Company who made the production, chose most wisely for the characters. John W. Cope is the Judge Priest, and Willis P. Sweetman, plays Jeff, the Judge's servant. There is a very long list of others, all of exceptional ability.

The matinees at this theatre are given on Thursdays and Saturdays. Our town patrons are assured that all mail orders will receive careful attention.

MILITIA CLEARS STREETS OF STRIKERS

Two Manchester Companies on Duty at Nashua--No Trouble This Morning, But Strikers Are Sullen

(Special to The Herald)

Nashua, Oct. 19.—With fixed bayonets two companies of the Manchester state militia, who arrived here last night to assist the two companies of the local militia in the strike trouble, marched out of the yards of the Nashua Manufacturing Company this morning and dispersed 1000 strikers who had gathered in the mill district.

The two Nashua companies remain on guard within the mill gates. A thorough investigation was started this morning by Mayor Crowley into the disorder of yesterday, in which soldiers shot and bayoneted some of the strikers. The twenty persons injured in yesterday's disorder are reported to be getting along well today, with only two on the dangerous list.

A BELATED HONOR

Chief Carpenter Thompson
Awarded Medal 18 Years
After Saving Officer's
Life.

Chief Carpenter Charles Thompson of the Portsmouth navy yard, now residing at No. 45 Rogers street, has the unusual experience and distinction of having received a medal of honor from the navy department eighteen years after the deed for which it was given had been accomplished.

Mr. Thompson was an apprentice when Captain Henry Wilson, U. S. N., was an ensign, just out of the Naval Academy. These two men with sixteen others put off in a sailboat from the gunboat Saratoga, then lying off San Fernando, Trinidad, to visit the "up-shore lake" in the interior of the island. Five miles from the ship and three miles from the shore, a heavy wave swamped the boat and all hands were thrown into the water.

When Wilson came to the surface he found himself under the heavy sail. He was so exhausted that he gave himself up for lost and sank. Thompson was clinging, battered by heavy seas, to the gunwale of the overturned boat. He saw Wilson and risked his life to drag him to the boat. He had to perform two more acts of heroism before saving the ensign's life. First, he had to support him for nearly ten minutes until Wilson recovered consciousness sufficiently to aid himself.

In the meantime, four of the other men had been drowned. A Spanish fisherman had picked up the others and sailed away, supposing no one else was left alive.

With one hand, Thompson swam the three miles to shore and with the other supported Wilson all the way. Both men were near death when they reached land.

MARRIED

SIXTY YEARS

Stratham Couple Have Had a Long Married Life.

A pleasant occasion Monday was the 60th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin S. Jenness at their home on the Stratham Heights road.

The event was quietly commemorated by a family gathering and a few of their friends and neighbors made the afternoon pleasant by calling between the hours of two and four o'clock. Music was furnished and refreshments served.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenness were married in Stratham October 18, 1856, by Rev. Charles Newhall, a well known Baptist preacher of those times.

An interesting feature of the gathering this afternoon was the fact Mrs. Jenness was attired in her wedding gown, which was of blue changeable silk, and with the exception of a few changes in the makeup for the occasion of her golden wedding anniversary, 10 years ago, it possesses the fashion of over half a century ago. Mrs. Jenness also has in her possession her bonnet and gloves which she wore on her wedding day, and a petticoat which she embroidered when she was 10 years of age.

Mr. Jenness was born in Rye, April 21, 1829, son of Benjamin and Dolly (Brown) Jenness, and with the exception of four years when he was engaged in an ice business in Salem, Mass., and a year in Broadway, Ill., he has lived in Rye and Stratham all his life where he is now a prosperous farmer.

Mrs. Jenness was Mary W. Chase of Stratham and was born there on May 1, 1836, daughter of Phineas and Ann (Arnold) Chase, and is a member of the North Hampton Congregational church.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenness will be 88 and 80 years old respectively on their next birthdays. They have one adopted daughter, Mrs. Leslie A. Cook of Stratham.

Inglo-French-Serb Armies Throw Back Bulgar Thrust--More Allied Troops Landed at Enos--Protecting Lines from Salonica to Nish.

London, Oct. 18.—The taking of Strumitsa, Bulgaria, by the Anglo-French-Serb Allies will have a good effect on the Balkan situation. Strumitsa, on the Bulgarian frontier occupies the apex of the Bulgarian salient, which points into Serbia; only twelve miles to the east of the Salomon-Nish railroad, is about fifty miles northwest of Salonica. The Bulgarians were advancing in the Strumitsa section in an effort to reach and cut the Nish-Salonica railroad line, and thus stop the pending northward reinforcements. The Serbians, with allied assistance, first repulsed a Bulgarian attack at Vilandovo, during the advance of the Bulgarians into a retreat beyond their own border. This arrival of French troops at the psychological moment, when the Serbian struggle with 40,000 newly arrived Bulgarians at Vilandovo, and Rundovo still hung in the balance, has dramatic qualities which for the moment have completely eclipsed military exploits in other theaters. The chief military importance of the Allied Serbian success is the defeat of the Bulgarian project of cutting the Salomon-Nish railroad, which is known to have been the Bulgarian objective. It is not clear whether British troops cooperated with the French in this operation but a message from Athens stating that they had left Salonica Saturday for the Serbo-Bulgarian frontier indicates they, at least, were near the scene of the fighting.

London, Oct. 18.—The entente allies have effected a landing at Ipsos, on the Aegean sea, in European Turkey close to the Bulgarian border, and have seized the railroad at that point, according to a dispatch from Athens to the Messenger at Home, transmitted by the Central News.

Paris, Oct. 18.—French forces repulsed completely last night three German attacks, according to the news.

The Belgians have been holding their own and not yielding an inch of ground.

Strengthen Line Near Riga

Petrograd, Oct. 18.—The Germans have materially strengthened their fortifications in the Jacobstadt district northeast of Riga, giving them a character of permanency. This leads Russian military observers to conclude that a renewal of operations in the Riga district is designed to divert attention from the Dvinsk district and from the southern war theatre, which latter is assuming daily greater importance because of the Baltic situation. The capture by the Russians of the Gater farm, midway between Laken-Demmen and Dvinsk, from which they drove the Germans with great slaughter, besides capturing many prisoners, gives the Russians command on the line southward from Dvinsk through Dvinsk to Lake Boginsky—a line of natural defences thirty miles in length.

The keel of the super dreadnaught California, destined to be the greatest of battleships, was laid at the navy yard in Brooklyn. The event was an epoch in naval construction, and among those who participated were Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Rear Admiral Nathaniel R. Usher, commandant of the great yard, for which the California will be rushed to completion; Rear Admiral Robert S. Griffin, the engineer in chief of the navy, and Rear Admiral David W. Taylor, chief of the bureau of construction in Washington. In his address Secretary Daniels said: "It may be said that the battleship California represents one of the greatest advances in modern maritime engineering. Electric propulsion has been widely discussed in all countries for several years, but the United States is the only nation which has got past the discussion stage. For two years now a half-million-ton coffee Jupiter has been using the only electrical high power marine installation afloat. The California's sister ships, the new Mississippi and Idaho, building at Newport News and Camden respectively, will share with the California the distinction of being the largest battleships yet built or building for our navy. The California will cost completed about $15,000,000. The fourteen-inch guns which she is to mount, having extreme ranges and greater striking power than any naval gun now in use, offer the advantage of allowing the mounting of twelve of them on a single ship, as against eight guns of the fifteen-inch type which have been adopted by some other navies. With a length over all of 621 feet, a length on water line of 590 feet, and extreme breadth of 77 by 22 inches, with a draft of 20 feet, displacement of 32,000 tons and a speed of 21 knots, and with an armament in addition to her twelve fourteen-inch high powered guns in four turrets, of a secondary battery of twenty-two five-inch rapid fire guns, and with four submerged torpedo tubes capable of firing the largest type of torpedoes, the California will be one of the most formidable ships of war afloat." 1, California as she will look when completed (note the slipper bow); 2, Secretary Daniels and Admiral Usher; 3, laying the keel plates.

MAY PROVE FATAL.

When Will Portsmouth People Learn the Importance of It?

Bucknake is only a simple thing at first:

But if you find 'tis from the kidneys; That serious kidney trouble may follow:

That dropsy or Bright's disease may be the fatal end.

You will be glad to know the following experience:

'Tis the statement of a Portsmouth citizen.

James Pleckes, 11 Bucklett St., Portsmouth, says: "I had kidney trouble for several years. I suffered from dull pains in my back and often I had such acute twinges across my loins that I could scarcely move. The kidney secretions contained sediment and were so frequent in passage that I was obliged to get up several times at night. I was unable to find relief until I got Dr. Dorn's Kidney Pills, at Philbrick's Pharmacy. They helped me from the first and continued use entirely cured me."

Please see, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Dr. Dorn's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Pleckes had. Foster-Milburn Co., Proprs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Sunday was the warmest day of the month, the glass registering 72 degrees. It was a typical Indian summer day, with Indian breezes from the southland and really too warm for a fall east. Hundreds of automobiles were out and thousands of people were walking. The "slut line" got a chance to get out into the sunshine. The electric cars did an almost mid-summer business. No records were broken. The warmest day in October was several years ago when 81 was reached, but Sunday was the warmest of this month thus far.

MORE ABOUT BEHAISM AND ITS PROPHET

"A Reply to Mr. Richardson" by the Behaist Lecturer, Mr. Kheiralla of Chicago.

In the October number of "The Open Court" (Chicago) Mr. L. G. Kheiralla has an article entitled, "Behaism; in Reply to the Attack of Robert P. Richardson." It will be recalled that Mr. Richardson's article, "The Persian Rival to Jesus, and His American Disciples," was published in the August issue of the magazine named, and was reviewed at considerable length in this paper.

The national interest in Mr. Richardson's article makes this Behaist statement timely as an alleged answer. Mr. Kheiralla is the lecturer for the Behaist Society of Chicago. He is therefore supposed to be well authorized to represent the views of the cult. There can be no doubt that he has done so from the standpoint of his religion.

Just why Mr. Kheiralla's article should be termed "reply" to Mr. Richardson is not exactly apparent. It does not have the first essential of a reply to anybody or to anything. It is purely and solely a presentation of the dogmatic foolishness of Behaism—and nothing else. It does not discuss in any particular the evidence discussed by Mr. Richardson. It does not attempt to deny in any specific way any detail of the historical facts asserted by Mr. Richardson; instead it substantiates the whole case set forth by him in all that is important as could not have been done so well by any other source.

Mr. Kheiralla's article is enlightening only as a demonstration beyond all dispute that Behaism or Bahaiism is fundamentally and essentially as silly as primitive Christianity. The articles will likely be a disappointment to American Bahais themselves, as an argument, unless they shall be satisfied with this publication of his statement of a childish superstition which has been outgrown even by enlightened Christians who still call themselves such.

Bahaism is a Persian development of Christianity. Mr. Kheiralla simply shows that the Bahais are an oriental messianic cult that insists an event has transpired that a portion of Christianity such as the Second Adventists still look Heavenward for with anxious expectation. The Bahais believe that this absurd something has happened on schedule time, as predicted, and that those who made or hold the plan of development are not yet aware of the event.

In order that Mr. Kheiralla may not be misunderstood nor misrepresented in this review, this particular feature may be quoted definitely: "Jewish rabbis, Christian theologians, Mohammedan doctors and priests" of other faiths, all expected the coming of the Kingdom of God on earth in the nineteenth century. They were not mistaken, for their scriptures foretold its appearance. Jesus said: "The Lord of the vineyard cometh; 'The Comforter will come'; 'When the Spirit of Truth is come; He will guide you unto all truth.' He prayed: 'Thy Kingdom come!'" etc.

In proof of all this mumble, "Huseyn Ali was born Nov. 12, 1817, and announced Himself as Beha' Ullah, the Glory of God, 1867, and departed May 23, 1892."

Mr. Kheiralla's article has this merit: It gives in eight pages the substance of what this religion purports to be. It is fair enough in this respect and to this extent is a service, Mr. Richardson's title was correct.

"I am of the opinion" says the author "that the Prophets and Manifestations of God must prove to the people of the earth the truth of their divine missions by producing the following four evidences in order that the people may believe and acknowledge them. Should they present such evidences and yet should we reject them, it would be our own fault and not theirs."

"First: To utter verses which contain striking truths and principles whereby the human race is uplifted and elevated, and the extremely wicked become upright and good.

"Second: Their appearance is foretold by the prophets of yore.

"Third: To display a divine knowledge, which is beyond that of man.

"Fourth: To show a superiority in their lives and personalities.

"These evidences were fully established in the person of Huseyn Ali, so as to leave no doubt that He was the Glory of God, and the Manifestation of the Father. In brief all the promises were fulfilled in him as you will see by some of them which shall here be mentioned."

"By comparison we find Beha' Ullah more excellent and uplifting than all the other prophets. For his teachings are not visionary nor prophetic, but practical, final, and useful to the high and the low, to the civilized and the uncivilized. At the same time they are in accord with reason and science and in harmony with the laws governing the world."

Mr. Kheiralla adds: "For instance, history proves that neither through Christianity nor Mohammedanism could peace be established upon earth, for the first shed blood, if not more, no less than the other, and the present terrible war bears witness." Mr. Kheiralla proposes more of this religious nonsense as a remedy.

Mr. Richardson specifically charged, in splendid irony, that: "In the struggle for leadership the Bab exhibited all that kindness characteristic of certain religions" and in brief, as stated in the review of Mr. Richardson's article, summed up: "the first history of the sect as one of customary bloodshed, loot, and the usual 'quarrels.'" Mr. Kheiralla should have properly had something definite to say about this charge, and about the character of the evidence to have made his article "a reply" to Mr. Richardson.

A sample of the basis of Behaism is in this: "The vision of the image and that of the tree mentioned in the second and fourth chapters of Daniel have the same significance concerning the appearance of the Kingdom of God the time of its coming, as shown in the latter chapter, to be after 'seven times' had passed over the head of Nebuchadnezzar, Seven times (360 years) date 2520. From the date of Nebuchadnezzar's birth, 628 B. C. seven times or 2520 years forward, will bring us to 1592 A. D., the year of the departure of the Manifestation and the completion of His organization of the Kingdom of God."

All of which has a sound like one of "Pastor" Russell's sermons, and has about as much an explanation of human affairs as a Chinese laundry check.

The life and personality of Huseyn Ali are convincing proofs that he was

THE GREAT SHEPHERD AND HIS FLOCK
Jehovah the Chief Shepherd of the Sheep.

God's Ideals Different From Those of the World—His Infinite Greatness and Our Littleness—His Wonderful Plan—Far Beyond Human Conception—How God Tested His Son, Christ's Supreme Exaltation—Later Church Called to Follow His Steps.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 17.—Pastor Russell preached here today. He took for his text Psalm 23:1—"The Lord is My Shepherd; I shall not want."

The Pastor's address began with a contrast between the armful bearings of earth's great families and the symbol which God has adopted for His family. While mankind use birds of prey and various kinds of wild beasts, real or fabled, He has chosen the lamb, the sheep. There is nothing ferocious about the lamb or the sheep. They are meek and inoffensive. God tells us that He is the Shepherd of His saints, of His sheep.

It is a wonderful suggestion that the Father of Mercies, the Almighty One is so high, and in comparison with whom we are so small, should be willing to care for us. In comparison with His mankind are like the small dust of the balance. (Isaiah 40:16.) Nevertheless, Jehovah has favored us, has made a great Plan for the redemption of every member of our race. Especially do those who have become His children, His sheep, see His love and care manifested toward them, in that He has invited them to become partakers of the Divine nature, to be forever associated with Jesus.—2 Peter 1:4.

God's Plan Beyond Human Comprehension.

The speaker then discussed the Heavenly Father's marvelous Plan for human redemption. To the Logos, His Only Begotten Son, who had always been faithful to Him, God desired to give still greater blessings; in connection with the blessing of others. So the first offer to carry out the Divine Plan and to obtain the Divine nature through humiliation and suffering was made to the Logos, God's only direct creation. (Revelation 3:14; John 1:3.)

He gladly responded, was made man by a transfer of nature, and by faithfully obeyed unto the shameful death of the cross became the Head of this company that God purposed to bring from the lowest plane of His intelligent creatures to the very highest.

The conditions upon which Jehovah would grant this great exaltation were stringent. His Son must thoroughly prove His loyalty and obedience, and His trial must take place amongst the adverse conditions prevailing in the lost world which He was to redeem by the sacrifice of Himself, and from which His footstep followers would be selected. This part of God's wonderful Plan would never have occurred to our minds. He would never have thought of stooping down to fallen creatures under the curse of death and in a depraved condition, for four thousand years, and of mankind them offering, not only of having their sins forgiven and of being reconciled to God through the death of His Son, but also of becoming followers of that Son and, by passing through similar trials and experiences, becoming joint-heirs with Him in His glorious inheritance.

Until our Lord Jesus was highly exalted at His resurrection, there was none of the Divine nature except Jehovah Himself. Although next to God, the Logos was upon a very different plane of existence. The Father had first created Him, and through Him all other beings. God's next creation will be upon a higher plane than any other—the Divine. In harmony with this purpose we see that in Christ the Church will be God's New Creation, as St. Paul explains.—2 Cor. 5:17; Eph. 4:24.

Wherefore the Son had always demonstrated His loyalty under favorable conditions, amongst the holy ones in harmony with Jehovah, where there were no requirements of sacrifice. But now God would put His Son to a special test. If He would accept Jehovah's proposition, and be loyal even unto death amongst the unholily ones out of harmony with Jehovah and under conditions of suffering and humiliation, then He should have an exaltation far above angels, principalities, powers, and every name that is named. St. Paul tells us that our Lord accepted the Father's terms; and that, having been found worthy, He was exalted to the right hand of the Majesty on High. (Philippians 2:8-11.)

Justification and the High Calling.

In conclusion the Pastor explained the difference between justification and the High Calling of the Gospel Church to follow their Redeemer's steps. Everywhere the Bible teaches that through Jesus' blood believers are "justified freely from all things." But justification merely brings them to the place where they can offer their bodies to God in sacrifice. (Romans 12:1.) None but the Church have yet been justified. Others have gone down to the tomb unjustified. During the Millennial Age, Jesus will be their Justifier. At the close of that time He will present blameless to the Father all who have met the conditions.

BANDITS WRECK TRAIN

(Special to The Herald)
Brownville, Texas, Oct. 19.—Two Americans were killed and four wounded here last night when Mexican bandits wrecked a train on the St. Louis, Brownville and Mexico railroad at 10:30 p.m. After wrecking the train they robbed the passengers and shot down those who resented their treatment. Full details were nine hours getting here, owing to the fact that the bandits cut all telegraph wires and then buried a bridge 200 feet long east of this city to prevent aid reaching the wreck. The border is being watched by a large guard but no arrests have been made. The bandits were in the uniforms of the Carranza army and carried army weapons. The dead are H. H. Kendall, engineer, and Corp. McBee, the former being crushed to death, beneath the engine.

DESERTED CHILD IN THIS CITY

Mary Wiley Wanted by the County Authorities.

The county authorities are looking for Mary Wiley of Union, N. H., who has deserted her two-year old child in this city.

Three weeks ago she called at the residence of Mrs. David Slaney on Mechanic street and made arrangements to board the child there while she worked in the Morley Button Co., having told Mrs. Slaney that she had secured a position.

She agreed to pay Mrs. Slaney $3.00 a week for the board of the child, which was satisfactory. She left the child and evidently at once departed from the city for she has not been heard from since.

After waiting a week or more, Mrs. Slaney called the attention of County Commissioner N. H. Beane to the case, and the girl's step-father in Union was notified, but he disclaimed all responsibility for the child or its mother.

The child is still with Mrs. Slaney, but the county commissioners are assuming the care until the mother can be located. Under the recent act of the legislature the desertion of a child is a felony.

Keep within the appropriation for the remainder of the year.

The men discharged were drivers James Brooks, Charles Berry; helpers E. H. Spinney, Frank W. Michmore, Charles Donnell, Joseph Elliot and Edward Robinson. All but one of the number are married men, and some of them have been employed by the city several years. No reason was given when they were suspended.

BOXING BOUTS MADE BIG HIT AT THE COLONIAL

ROSS BROTHERS PRESENTED
FINE COMEDY NUMBER LAST EVENING—ALL HEADLINE
SHOW OF VAUDEVILLE

The "Quality" policy of the Colonial Theatre management was again in evidence last evening and the show drew a big audience. There was little opportunity for any but absolute satisfaction at the program offered. All three of the vaudeville acts are of the headline variety and the picture program was especially strong.

The Ross Brothers, two little midgets, made a barrel of fun with their boxing bout and their training stunts were interesting, including work with "exercizers," shadow boxing and bag punching. The two little chaps are clever and put considerable comedy into their work. The act was given a good ovation by the audience, which pronounced it a decided hit.

Kitty Edwards and company, presented a jazzy singing act, her company consisting of four good male singers. The number was well dressed and the company introduced two of the latest Broadway hits. The act was well received and was given hearty applause.

Roy and Wilson did a kid "kick" number that was also a hit. Both Mr. Roy and Miss Wilson sang their songs well and their dancing was far in advance of the average double act. The entire show was strong, "Quality" showing in every act and picture.
